

1. According to the scholars at Harvard, who were the two intellectual pillars that defined the underlying meaning of transcendentalism? In other words, who did the scholars at Harvard cite as the person who defined how we know what we know (all things we know have come through the senses) and who said that we can know things without the senses?
2. Identify two famous women who were influenced by the transcendentalist debate? (one was the founder of American Kindergarten who saw "process more important than product"; the other stressed self-reliance and equality in gender roles.)
3. Identify the various communal movements that were influenced by the transcendentalist debate.
4. Be certain to read all underlined portions. Then write a paragraph that explains the extent that transcendentalism influenced American culture (religion, education, social movements).
